Future of Bell Block Mass Centre: A comprehensive discussion was had on this subject

Some of the issues/questions raised by the Bell Block community included:

- What are the plans for the Bell Block Mass centre?
- What is the timeframe for closing the Mass centre?
- The community wishes to continue holding their own Liturgy of the Word with Communion services weekly with a Mass celebrated when/if a priest is available.
- The community felt that there has not been enough consultation and collaboration around the future of the Bell Block community.
- Simon suggested involving the community in other activities such as Alpha as a means to retaining the camaraderie whilst coming to OLHC or St Joseph's for Mass each Sunday.

It was agreed that the Leadership Team would meet with the Bell Block community in early December to discuss next steps, however Simon stated that Masses at Bell Block would finish and confirmed clearly that there were two points that are to be accepted and will not be part of any discussion:

There are two points that we cannot change for the BBK community:

1) there are insufficient priests to continue offering Sunday Mass to the BBK community. Sunday Mass will need to come to an end in 2021.

2) that Catholics go to Mass on Sunday. A LoWwC does not replace Sunday Mass and the parish cannot change this.

Meeting Closed: 1pm

Proposed Date of next AGM: March 2021
